NY Green Bank: Financing an Energy Efficient Future

NY Green Bank is a State-sponsored investment fund managed by a team of solutions-oriented financing professionals. The team specializes in identifying new and effective approaches for financing projects that support the State's clean energy goals. NY Green Bank works to make financing available to developers, building owners, property managers, and organizations capable of scaling and replicating energy efficiency practices, especially where traditional financing approaches are not readily available.

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo has set New York State on a path to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, decrease consumer energy costs, and create job opportunities. Accelerating the deployment of energy efficiency is a cornerstone of this ambitious initiative. A recently released energy efficiency target will deliver nearly one-third of the greenhouse gas emissions reductions needed to meet New York's goal of 40% reduction by 2030.

Energy efficiency funding is available for qualifying projects, including but not limited to:

- Commercial, Multifamily, and Industrial Building Owners and Property Managers seeking to make their facilities more energy efficient
- Engaging tenants on financing mechanisms for efficiency upgrades
- Project developers seeking to offer and/or expand access to energy efficiency loans for homeowners
- Longer-term financing for commercial or non-profit entities seeking to engage in energy efficiency projects
- Advancing energy equipment financing for Energy Service Companies (ESCOs) via lease tenor extensions
